Building Bridges! Mormon Reservoir Bridge replacement gets real! Demolition begins! County awards steel pier contract!

Camas County crews began working this week on a temporary bridge (at left above) over Camas Creek to allow the demolition of the existing Mormon Reservoir Road bridge (at right) and construction of its replacement. 🐾

Big Smoky Fire Out! Lightspeed response to lightning zap! chokes fire in subalpine fir to four acres!!

The USFS reports that the lightning-sparked Royal Fire in the West Fork of Smoky Creek was briskly contained and is now out. The fire burned about four high-elevation acres in the Sawtooth National Forest in the West Fork of Big Smoky Creek drainage, approximately 25 miles north of Fairfield, north of Big Peak. Sawtooth National Forest spokesperson Carol Brown, quoted in the Idaho Mountain Express, noted that USFS strength on the scene included three engine crews, a 20-person attack crew, and six smokejumpers. 🐾

A new logo (above) for the Camas Conservation District! A design contest!

Artist Bonnie McGough delivers!

Artist Bonnie McGough was the winner of the Camas Conservation District's logo contest! McGough is seen in the photo above in a subtle tug of war with CCD chairman Kevin Wear for the contest prize, a gift certificate to the Iron Mountain Inn! (In the end, Kevin gracefully released his grip on the highly desirable envelope.) In the new logo, seen at the top of this column, McGough captured the beloved trademark profile of the Soldier Mountains overlooking the Camas Prairie. Photo by Brenda Moyers. 🍷

First construction contract awarded for the two new Mormon Reservoir bridges! Closing the road gap at last! Steel pier installation 2+ weeks out!

Camas County Commissioners, on Monday, awarded the first construction contract for two new bridges required for the Mormon Reservoir approach road. One bridge will cross the main channel of Camas Creek, and another will span the spillway/overflow channel south of the main channel. The new bridges will replace old bridges that have been closed for several years, leaving a painful crack (ouch!) in Camas County's vital fundamental infrastructure. Concrete Placing Company of Boise won the contract for installation of steel piers that will support the bridge decks. County Road and Bridge crews are now building temporary bridge arrangements to support demolition and replacement of the new structures. Forsgren and Associates, the County's engineer for the project, designed the new bridges. The photo above shows the existing and venerable spillway bridge. Forsgren's drawing excerpt at left shows a plan view of the anticipated main channel crossing. 🍷
