Musher wins!

From the Glens Ferry game! Photo by Jeff Ralph

KC! CCHS Senior KC Hainline watches his free throw do the right thing last week, loading the scoreboard for a Musher 55-41 win over Glens Ferry in the last regular game of the season! And last night in Shoshone, in their tournament debut, the Musers overpowered Murtaugh 80-68, with the first half featuring an ice-cold multi-basket performance in the key by Colby Thompson! The CCHS squad returns to the Shoshone gym for Game 2 of the tournament tonight at 7 p.m., against a traditionally formidable adversary: Carey! 🍷

Senior Erik Robles appeared in his last Fairfield home game (above) last week against Glens Ferry. The Mushers mounted an effective defense game, holding the Wolves to 41 points. Remington Kramer (below) and Trey Smith (right) were, as usual, prominent in the Musher offense! 🍷

Camas Junior High musicians hit high notes at Honor Clinic!

From Camas Schools music teacher Tami Runyon! “I took six Junior High Students to the Junior High Honor Clinic in Burley, Idaho on Wednesday February 7. Ashly Botz (Tenor Saxophone), Leslie Staley (Flute) and Bria Frostenson (Percussion) all in the Honor Band! Samantha Webber (Violin) in Honor Orchestra! Breanna Ashmead and Laura Thompson, Altos in the Honor Choir! They practiced all day with directors from Skyview High School and Boise State University to perform an arrangement of high-level music that evening.” Thanks, Ms. Runyon! Bravo, Musers! Above, from left: the musicians! Maestro Runyon, Samantha Weber, Ashly Botz, Leslie Staley, Laura Thompson, Breanna Ashmead, and Bria Frostenson! 🍷

2 high-powered Musher athletes and their families were celebrated last week at their last home game! Above we see Erik Robles with Roberto and Mary Robles, and KC Hainline with Mandy and Devin Hulme! KC made a triumphant return to the Musher squad at the Glens Ferry game, and had a galvanic effect in offensive and defensive roles, stalking the key like the Grim Reaper. Thanks, Erik and KC! 🍷

Science Boy commands us!

Presentation on Idaho Power's cloud-seeding program at Fairfield City Hall tomorrow night! Thursday at 7 p.m.!

Rainmakers! As you may know, there is an impressive robotic gizmo, resembling one of those War of the Worlds invaders, that was installed a few years ago northwest of Fairfield, high on the divide between Lime Creek and Chimney Creek. This outlandish thing was put there by Idaho Power as part of a network of similar remotely controlled devices spread across south central Idaho.

What these things do is, on command, generate silver iodide particles, by means of blowers and burners and similar things, and broadcast these crystals into passing volumes of moist wind at the right temperature. The injected crystals stimulate the water vapor in the clouds into forming droplets or ice crystals. The result: more rain or snow falling out of passing air masses to nourish fields and fill reservoirs as the air masses pass by.

The Idaho Power cloud-seeding program is partly funded by soil conservation districts, water districts and some local governments, and in addition to the ground-based robot devices, uses overflights of airplanes that broadcast silver iodide crystals into promising air masses over the southern half of Idaho, aiming to wring more H₂O out of passing air masses.

Cloud-seeding, though widely practiced over many years by perfectly responsible persons, has sometimes suffered from a popular reputation as a dubiously scientific practice. Well, as it happens, a scientific team including Idaho Power Hydrometeorologist Mel Kunkel, has recently published, in a scientific journal of impeccable credibility -- The Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America -- the results of a complicated on-the-ground and in-the-air experiment -- the SNOWIE experiment -- conducted in western Idaho over the past couple of years.

The results? As the paper's abstract points out, "These comprehensive observations provide unambiguous evidence that glaciogenic seeding of a supercooled liquid cloud can enhance natural precipitation growth in a seeded cloud, leading to precipitation that would otherwise not fall within the targeted region."

Mel Kunkel, one of the authors of this landmark study, Precipitation formation from orographic cloud seeding, is scheduled to be at the Fairfield City Hall tomorrow, February 15, at 7 p.m. to discuss Idaho Power's ongoing cloud-seeding project and the results of the SNOWIE research project. Kunkel's visit allows Camas residents to hear about an adventurous climate modification program with direct effects on our agricultural and recreation economies, and to also hear about a magnificent and thrilling example of experiment design: top-notch actual real genuine science being practiced right in our back yard! See you there! 🍷

Book Discussion February 26!!!

The final "Let's Talk About It" book discussion for this season will be Monday, February 26 at 6 p.m. This season's attention is on American classics, and the book on the table for this session is Their Eyes Were Watching God by Zora Neale Thurston. The book is available to check out at the Camas County Library! Discussion is typically spirited at these things, though almost always civil! The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served. 🍷
